

EASTERN REGIONAL INTERSTATE CHILD SUPPORT ASSOCIATION

Child Support Professional Recognitions

In 2015, the Board of Directors decided that it was time for ERICSA to celebrate the hard-working child support professionals in the IV-D program with individual recognitions. The Board also decided that it would be nice to recognize individuals who are reflecting the mission of ERICSA in their home offices, impacting both their peer child support professionals and the families on their cases. ERICSA seeks to confer these recognitions, nominated by a child support professional, upon another child support professional in the same jurisdiction or in a different jurisdiction. Jurisdiction is defined as a state, territory, tribe, or country. The nominations will be reviewed and evaluated by a special ERICSA committee that will award these three recognitions:

Award of Professional Excellence—Frontline Child Support Professional (Non-supervisory position, same jurisdiction)

The Eastern Regional Interstate Child Support Association (ERICSA) specially recognizes a frontline child support professional, serving in a non-supervisory role, who was recommended by a child support professional from the same jurisdiction, for having made significant contributions to their local IV-D program and to the children and families they serve. This child support professional has made worthy contributions that build a stronger intergovernmental child support community by facilitating communication, developing and advocating effective policy, or delivering innovative professional training in order to enhance the well-being of families.

Award of Professional Excellence—Manager /Supervisor (Same jurisdiction)

The Eastern Regional Interstate Child Support Association (ERICSA) specially recognizes a manager or supervisor child support professional, who was recommended by another child support professional from the same jurisdiction, for having made significant contributions to the IV-D intergovernmental program and to the children and families it serves. This supervisor or manager has made worthy contributions that build a stronger intergovernmental child support community by facilitating communication, developing and advocating effective policy, or delivering innovative professional training in order to enhance the well-being of families.

Award of Professional Excellence—Intergovernmental Cooperation (Different jurisdiction)

The Eastern Regional Interstate Child Support Association (ERICSA) specially recognizes a child support professional, in any role, who is recommended by a child support professional from a different jurisdiction, for having made significant contributions to the IV-D intergovernmental program and to the children and families it serves. This child support professional has made worthy contributions that build a stronger intergovernmental child support community by facilitating communication, developing and advocating effective policy, or delivering innovative professional training in order to enhance the well-being of families that span over multiple jurisdictions.
